Professional Diploma in Human Rights and Equality 2019-2020

The Programme

The Professional Diploma in Human Rights and Equality is a one-year, part-time programme that has been developed in conjunction with the Irish Human Rights and Equality Commission. It seeks to give public servants and others a better understanding of the place that human rights and equality occupy in public management and administration. The responsibility to devise policy, deliver services, and follow processes that protect human rights and further equality has become explicit since the introduction, via legislation, of the Public Sector Equality and Human Rights Duty in this area. This programme provides instruction in the most relevant laws and in their implications for the civil and wider public service.

Is this Programme for You?

This programme may be appropriate if you know you would benefit from a comprehensive education in how human rights and equality influence contemporary public policy and service delivery. Students will come from all parts of the wider public service and beyond and will work at various grades. They will all be keen to understand how the laws and policies around human rights and equality have become intrinsic to the day-to-day delivery of services and to obtain an informed perspective on the challenges that human rights and equality developments have for the workplace. No prior knowledge of the law in this area is required.

Course Content

The programme has four subjects.

Philosophical and Political Perspectives on Human Rights and Equality This seminar introduces students to the historical and conceptual foundations of contemporary human rights and equality law. Students will learn about the major historical developments in this area, the key theories that have been advanced in support of the universality of human rights and equality, and the current debates about the application of these theories in national and international context.	The International and European Frameworks for Human Rights Students will be introduced to the United Nations human rights system, the Council of Europe human rights mechanisms (including the European Convention on Human Rights), and the European Union human rights and equality framework. The seminar is essentially concerned with the international legal framework within which Irish laws and policies sit.
Human Rights and Equality in the Irish Legal System The main aim of this seminar is to introduce students to the protections around human rights and equality provided by the Constitution of Ireland and to the very considerable body of legislation and case law that has developed in Ireland, particularly in recent years.	Human Rights and Equality in Public Management As well as covering the Public Sector Equality and Human Rights Duty, this module will give students the knowledge and resources needed to apply what they have learned about human rights and equality to their working lives and organisations. Case studies will be used to promote discussion and to provide guidance on key human rights and equality issues .
